A song in her heart

From the entertainment world to the florist business, Nina Garcia recalls a lifetime of meeting new challenges

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
"I'd do the same thing," Nina Garcia stated in reference to her life choices.

"I believe your life is laid out before you when you are born," Garcia, a professional singer from the mid-1920s to 1947, tilted her head and flipped her hand in a litig gesture as she sang in gleeful reminiscence songs of days long past.

As a young woman she had lived in a world of music, met people of fame and historic importance. From the after-hours jazz clubs of post-World War II St. Louis, Mo. she returned to her home state of Mississippi, a young widow and mother.

"In the morning,
in the evening,
ain't we got fun..."

A Roberts, Miss. native, Garcia was born in 1909.

"I can remember back to when I was three years old," she stated. "My mother was pregnant when my father went off drinking one day and never came back."

Garcia related her family was assisted by the Salvation Army, who moved them to Birmingham, Ala.

Four-year-old Garcia and her two older siblings were placed in a Methodist orphan's home, while her mother attempted to make ends meet for herself and the newborn, who died later of diphtheria.

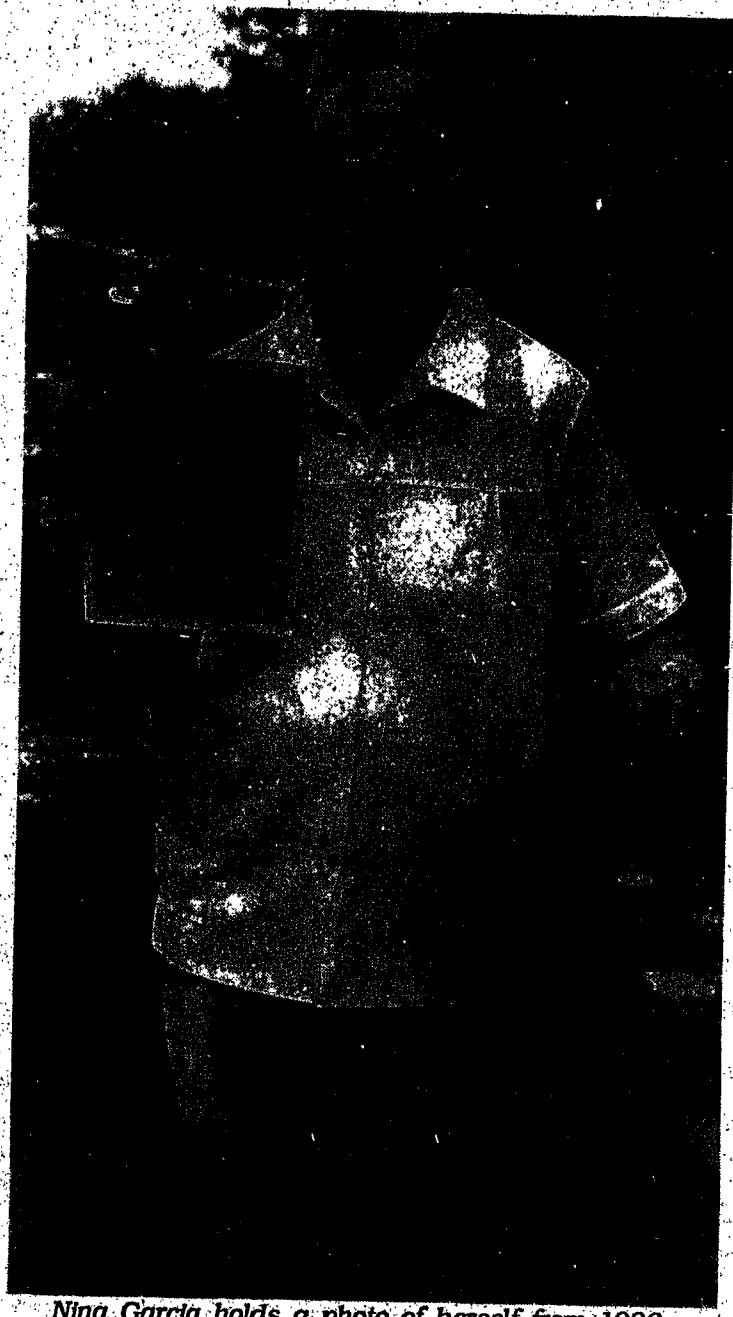

Though there were offers for adoption, Garcia said, her mother refused to give up custody of the children, clinging to the hope the family would be reunited one day.

Garcia said nearly four years later, she and her brother were sent to stay with their paternal grandmother in Vineland, Ala.

Meanwhile, she explained, her mother had taken a job washing dishes in a restaurant owned by a Greek.

Her mother married the Greek restaurant owner and moved with him to Little Rock, Ark.

Garcia's new step-father gave her mother the money to send for the children, but to avoid the wrath of the grandmother, a pretense was arranged. The older sister asked the grandmother to allow Garcia and the brother to visit

Waveland child hit by vehicle remains critical

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

A nine-year-old Waveland child struck by a vehicle along Beach Boulevard Tuesday remains in critical condition, Ochsner Medical Foundation spokesman Sandra Cordray reported Wednesday.

According to Police Chief James Varnell, Hannah Shane Redford of Hughes Street was hit by a van as she attempted to cross Beach Boulevard at Coleman Avenue in Waveland on her bicycle at 1:12 p.m.

Varnell stated, "A witness reported she just rode out into the traffic without looking."

"The witness said he screamed for her to stop, but she either did not hear him or wasn't paying attention."

Varnell said she was thrown 47 feet upon impact with the passing vehicle.

He added the little girl was rushed to Memorial Hospital of Gulfport by Mobile Medic and was transported to Ochsner hospital.

Cordray said Redford is in the Pediatrics Intensive Care Unit where she is being treated for a closed head injury.

Varnell commented the child was with two friends who had already crossed the road to the beach side.

No citations were issued, according to Varnell.

Southern Regional

Waveland Wastewater District changes name

BY LIZ HAAS

Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District, established in May, 1980, has changed its name to Southern Regional Wastewater Management District in an attempt to emphasize the regional character of the district.

"We decided to change the name because we are growing and covering more and more territory in the county, and the board felt the name should reflect all the entities, not just one," said Ethel Schott, chief operator and District Administrator.

Several months ago the board petitioned Mississippi State Representative J.P. Compretta to propose legislation changing the district name.

"The board requested this change and we were able to get it passed for them," said Compretta, "And I hope this will alleviate some of the confusion the board said they have encountered in the past because of their name."

Following approval of House Bill 497 by both legislative bodies, Governor Kirk Fordice signed the bill into law March 12.

Southern Regional Wastewater Management District is developing plans for another plant expansion to provide additional capacity for increasing demand in unincorporated areas and to meet the needs of the growing casino industry.

"We are planning to enlarge the treatment capacity here at the plant because of the growth in the area that requires more space for treatment facilities," said Schott.

The tank, according to Schott, presently has a 2.5 mil-

Wetlands fine reduced on BC casino violation

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) reduced a proposed wetlands violations fine on Bayou Caddy Casino Inc. Tuesday, cutting the original dollar amount in half.

EPA enforcement coordinator Ann Inderbitzin reported a tentative settlement of $15,000 and a casino conducted education seminar for any contractors involved in developments involving wetlands.

In a separate order, Inderbitzin stated, the casino company is required to restore the area in violation and monitor its return to wetland quality for the next five years.

She added, the tentative settlement remains subject to the approval of Bayou Caddy Cas-no president and chief executive officer George Baxter and EPA's departmental director.

The lands in question were part of a proposed customer parking lot and road intended for diversion of traffic to the seafood docks backing the casino site and north of Beach Boulevard.

The EPA determined the clearing of the two acres of wetlands prior to receipt of a permit violated wetland protection regulations of the Clean Water Act.

The EPA announced a proposed $30,000 fine last month and requested public input. The EPA released one half acre of the area for permitted use, retaining the 1.5 acres of the cleared area as protected.

Garcia

Nina Garcia would find the mode of expression she most enjoyed.

She stated, "While other children played with dolls and toys, I listened to records."

And not just popular records, Garcia had already developed a discriminating taste. She preferred the songs of Bessie Smith and the Black cabaret singers of that time.

When Garcia was 12, she went to see Bessie Smith with an arm full of Smith's records, but was refused entry because of her race.

Having been introduced to the backstage workings of the musical comedy shows in which her older sister performed, she went to the stage door where Smith heard her pleas for entry and intervened.

"I stood in the wings and sang along with her. I knew all her music," she related with joy.

When Garcia was 15, her sister briefly visited the family prior to traveling with a musical company to Iowa for a summer engagement.

Garcia said she begged her sister to allow her to accompany her on the tour.

"They put me on the end of the chorus because I was so little," Garcia recalled. "I played the ukulele and danced the hula. It was wonderful. They took me everywhere with them."

Garcia's entertainment career began that summer and would go on for 23 years.

She traveled the United States as Nini Leevale and later Nina Lee, meeting the entertainers who would later become legends — Ginger Rogers, Bob Hope, Jimmy Durante, Rudy Vallee, Betty Grable.

She met infamous mobsters — Al Capone, Machine Gun Kelly, Jack McGuire, and political leaders, including Harry Truman.

In 1926 she was in a touring musical show which ended in Fort Myers, Fla. A club owner there gave her a job as a singer.

Here she made the acquaintance of Henry Ford, Alvin Kingston and Thomas Edison.

"They all had summer homes there, and one night they asked me and another girl to lunch."

"The next day we were picked up by a limousine and taken to a club where we played golf. I had never heard of golf."

Nina Green, 1943

"We were treated very respectfully. People were different then. They never used sex like they do today..."

"The mobsters were some of the nicest people. If you acted like a lady, you were treated like a lady."

From Florida, Garcia returned to St. Louis.

"Billboard Magazine was the entertainer's bible," she commented. "There were always jobs to be found in it."

"I went to Northfork, Va. next and there I met Milton Berle, who was a chorus boy. He suggested I go to New York. So I did."

"I was hired at Club Richmond as a singer."

"There, I would sit on a piano which would turn around on the stage."

"One night after singing a large blonde-haired woman came up to me and gave me $10. I said, 'No Mama, I receive pay from the club.'

"She insisted I take the additional money and tuck it away in my brassiere for safe keeping."

"I had never owned a brassiere, so the next day I took that $10 and went out and bought me one."

"You could say, Sophie Tucker, bought my first brassiere."

From New York, Garcia traveled to another town with another show and eventually back to St. Louis.

At 25 while singing in a St. Louis after-hours club, she met her first love, Irvin E. Green.

"All the musicians used to come to the after-hours clubs for jam sessions. He was a band leader. He was 10 years older than I."

"We fell in love."

It was the mid-1930s and the Depression had put an end to the traveling shows.

"I sang in nightclubs for a dollar a night."

She and Green dated during this time and in 1940 the couple married.

During Garcia's relationship with Green she met many musicians — Benny Goodman, Stan Kenton, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Bob Crosby (Bing's brother) and the Bobcats, were among them.

"Many nights someone would be passing through town and stop in at the club where I was performing. Bob Crosby and the Bobcats were the greatest."

"The place would be so filled with marijuana smoke I would have to go outside to breathe some fresh air. A lot of the musicians would smoke that while they played."

Nineteen forty-six was a joyous year for the couple, for Garcia gave birth to Irvin E. Green Jr.

The following year held great loss, for Irvin E. Green Sr. died of leukemia.

"Before he died, he told me, 'Nina, take the boy to your mother's and raise him there.'"

She did as her husband had asked, and Garcia left St. Louis for Hancock County, Mississippi, and a few new chapters in her life.

"One day, before Irvin and I married, he took me to see a fortune teller," she interjected. "The fortune teller asked Irvin to go on an errand for her — I think she just made an excuse to talk to me alone."

"She told me that I would marry Irvin and we would have a child, but I would not end my life with him — she said I would go far away, marry again, have more children... She said I would not end my life with that man — she said another man would come into my life who I would marry and with him make more money than I ever had in my life before."

"You know all that 'came true.'"

Garcia moved to Lakeshore and within a short period of time met another Green.

She and Malcolm Green married and had two daughters, Doris Louise and Mary Elizabeth.

During their 16 years of marriage, she wrote the Lakeshore News for The Sea Coast Echo, sold Avon cosmetics and waited tables at Bossier's gambling house across the Louisiana state line from Pearllington.

Difficulties prevailed in Garcia's second marriage, which resulted in a divorce.

She found employment with a local doctor. "I learned each day about medicine until I knew enough to go to work at the hospital."

She was hired as a practical nurse at Hancock General Hospital where she worked for about six years until she met Earl Garcia.

When she and Garcia married, she honored her husband's request that she quit work, for he was a general contractor. But before long, she was eager for something to do.

"I decided I would open a florist shop. The only other florist shop at that time was Lorraine's in Bay St. Louis, and we had property along Highway 90 in Waveland where we could build one."

"I went to New Orleans and from a phone book found the phone numbers of different florists. I began calling until I found one willing to teach me floral design."

Garcia said she made an $8,000 Small Business Administration (SBA) loan for the construction of the building and opening expenses.

"We opened Nina Garcia's florist and within a year I paid the loan off and bought myself a new car."

For nearly 20 years the flower shop flourished. Long hours and hard work were nothing new to Garcia and when Earl became ill they sold the business at a most comfortable profit.

"Earl used to say, 'Nina when we retire, we are going to New Orleans and hire a piano player. I'm going to build you a fancy nightclub and call it Miss Nina's."

Earl never got to fulfill that dream for he died a year after they sold the florist business.

Today Nina remains active, drives a Chevy Blazer, follows NBA playoffs and tends to a bountiful vegetable garden.

Having sold her Waveland home in 1991, she moved to Bayside Park where she lives in a spacious trailer shaded by two massive oak trees.

"I still read a lot," Garcia said. "A teacher told me one time, 'If you can read you will never be lonely.'"

"I had the happiest marriage of all with my third husband," she asserted with a wink.

Garcia added, "If you have manners, respect yourself and others, and are not afraid of work, you can do anything in this world."

"I have had a wonderful life...there isn't a thing I would do differently...and believe me honey, it's not over yet."

lion per day capacity, and will almost double with the expansion.

Schott said, "If all proceeds as scheduled, we should begin construction in one year to 18 months."

"The former Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District has accomplished much since its formation," said Schott.

Through the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grants program, the treatment plant was expanded to accommodate Bay St. Louis and Hancock County Wastewater District #1, as well as Waveland. The first phase of a county collection system was constructed in Jourdan River Isles, Garden Island, Jourdan River Estates and parts of Shoreline Park.

In 1985, the treatment plant was honored as the best in its size category in EPA Region IV.

In April of this year, Schott, was named Outstanding Wastewater Operator in Mississippi for 1992.

"Southern Regional Wastewater Management District will continue to provide the same quality in wastewater treatment facilities and service under its new name as it did under the original name," said Schott.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is the season for festivals and fairs in Hancock County, as summer has officially arrived. The months of June, July and August have always been 'unofficially' designated as summer in Hancock County.

This all goes back for many years because of the increase of summer vacationers, especially those from the New Orleans area.

To kick off the fair and festival activities will be St. Clare's with their annual Seafood Festival Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Friday will be the big fish fry from 5:30 to 9 p.m. at St. Clare's cafeteria, 235 S. Beach Boulevard, Waveland.

Over a period of many years, the late Johnny Longo had been chairman of the Friday night fish fry, and his son Tommy Longo now has that position.

This would be a good chance to get mothers out of the kitchen and at the same time make a good contribution to a very good project.

Seafood Festival times at St. Clare on Friday will be from 6 to 10 p.m.; Saturday, noon until 11 p.m.; and on Sunday from noon until 9 p.m.

Over the years Chappy has had some of his seafood specialties at the festival.

This will be the first time for Chappy to have his own booth at the festival, said Betsy Phillips, festival chairman.

The festival will offer all types of seafoods, such as boiled crabs, boiled crawfish, boiled shrimp, gumbo, crawfish bisque, fried fish, hamburgers, po-boys, all types of desserts and candies.

There will be rides for the kiddies and adults and all types of games, raffles and live entertainment. And don't forget the craft booths.

So it looks like St. Clare's offers a big weekend for June 4, 5 and 6.

I hope to see you at the Seafood Festival in Waveland.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Waveland Ave. name change would cause confusion

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to respond to the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray Legion Post's proposal to rename a portion of Waveland Avenue, thus making it Elwood Bourgeois Memorial Boulevard. I certainly hope that the aldermen and Waveland Avenue residents will consider the following before allowing such a proposal to become a reality.

1. There is the time-consuming inconvenience and considerable postage expense of notifying business associates and personal friends of an address change. This is a problem particularly in a retirement community where lifelong friends are contacted intermittently.

2. The post office forwards mail for six months only and subsequently returns incorrectly addressed mail to the sender with little or no explanation. If enacted immediately, the holiday season and tax season mail deliveries will, at the very last, be a nightmare for the residents.

3. There is additional inconvenience and expense involved in replacing pre-printed stationery, personal checks, etc.

4. The proposed name is much too long, and if an emergency developed, contacting 911 or other authorities would be complicated by a renamed street which would not be designated on any local maps or telephone directories—probably for some time.

5. In addition, directing visitors to our residences would be more confusing as Waveland Avenue is not a divided street typical of a boulevard. No divided street would be evident from either the Beach Road or Central Avenue.

6. The Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray Legion Post and the Elwood Bourgeois Memorial Park currently on Waveland Avenue (with marker) have previously been named in honor of this veteran.

If further honor is due this local hero, perhaps his name on a civic building or a new street would be more appropriate than complicating the lives of residents of Waveland Avenue.

Sincerely,

Barbara B. Hunter
Waveland Ave. resident

Vote for a POA board that will listen to residents

Dear Editor,

Diamondhead Property Owners have a rare last chance, with an upcoming special election, to oust the present board of directors and save the few remaining amenities we have left after this present reign of deceit and arrogance. If you need some reasons to vote the rascals out here are but a few.

It is too late to save the stables. They were closed and torn down without due process. To remove an amenity is supposed to take a vote of property owners. Were you notified?

The original golf pro shop, after much money was spent on expensive renovations, is now closed.

The County Club, our very reason for being called "Diamondhead," after extensive renovations costing over $100,000, is open for lunch only and looks like a men's locker room.

The Yacht Club, an almost break-even amenity, has been leased to a private operator, as has the airport's FBO. Both these private businesses are supported by your dues and mine...yes, they are subsidized.

Tennis World has been allowed to fall into such a sad state of disrepair and neglect it is embarrassing to invite other Gulf Coast clubs to play here.

And borrowing money to resurface the Pines course will not make up for the fact that never have both golf courses looked so bad.

Yet, the president of the board of directors, in a recent, article by Liz Haas in The Sea Coast Echo, bragged about how

LETTER—Page 5A

Diamondhead POA should put all cards on the table

To the Editor:

As a non-golfing resident of Diamondhead, I'd like to add my voice to the discussion of the coming POA election.

When I selected Diamondhead as my home that I would be responsible for maintaining and improving the golf course. Without good golf the community would fall as a result. I am prepared to pay what is necessary to make Diamondhead desirable to visitors and residents.

It is my hope that the Diamondhead POA will put all cards on the table and make a decision on the future of the golf course.

lets, plus the withdrawal of POA support from the fire district and our security force have added a sizable monthly increase to my cost of living. The recent POA decrease of $2 monthly in my POA assessment is cold comfort.

If the board needs money for the golf courses, I'll be happy to pay my share, but I'd like to have a board that puts all the cards on the table for me.

Respectfully submitted,

STREET TALK

What are your feelings concerning entitlement reductions?

Andy Kennedy
Pass Christian

"I think it's a mistake. Most people on Social Security and other benefits have no other income. It would put them in a bad way and drive more people into poverty."

"I don't think there should be reductions in any of those. They should stop spending in other areas. For example, there are many departments within the government that perform duplicate services."

Sandra
Featherston
Shoreline Park

"I don't think they should do it. It seems there are other things they could cut."

Thelma
Courtney
Shoreline Park

"I think they need better supervision of the handling of the funds rather than reduction of them."

Oral J. Keenan
Waveland

"If people really need it, it will be kind of hard on them. If you pay for an entitlement then you should get it, but you should also take responsibility to see to it that you do not take advantage of it. If people would take responsibility for themselves it would reduce government spending."

Robert Lind

More kinds of plastic bottles accepted in curbside recycling

Gulf Coast Recycling is now able to accept a new category of plastic in its curbside collection program in Bay St. Louis and at the recycling drop-off centers in Hancock County, HDPE #2.

The plastic, HDPE #2 (high density polyethylene) is identifiable by the number "2" inside three recycling arrows located on the bottom of milk jugs and many clear and colored plastic bottles.

Most plastic bottles for household products, from bleach to shampoo to milk, are made from HDPE #2 and are, therefore, recyclable under GCR's new guidelines. White-colored milk containers, as well as HDPE #2 plastics of all colors, are acceptable.

Motor oil bottles, margarine tubs, and bottles which contained toxic chemicals, including pesticides are not acceptable. All plastic bottles must be rinsed and flattened with lids removed.

At the recycling drop-off centers, HDPE #2 plastic bottles of all colors may be placed in the container marked "milk jugs."

In the past, GCR has accepted only clear, non-pigmented milk jugs for recycling.

"We've wanted for a long time to be able to recycle colored HDPE #2 plastic bottles, but until now, we could not locate a stable market for them," said Penny Penrose, executive director of GCR.

She said, "Bay St. Louis residents will be especially happy to hear that we can now accept their white milk jugs and detergent bottles. We've received a number of calls about these items, in particular."

GCR operates the city's curbside recycling program in Bay St. Louis and three rural drop-off recycling centers in Hancock County. The drop-off centers are a rural demonstration project for the county, funded by the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality and are located at Stennis Space Center and the county convenience centers at Washington Street/Chapman Road and North Barn at the intersection of Highways 603 and 43.

The new category of plastic also is being collected at the drop-off center at GCR's Gulfport office at 3401 "B" Avenue.

ON PATROL

RAPE

Waveland Police Chief James Varnell reported the rape of a 24-year-old woman approximately 4 a.m. Tuesday.

Varnell said the woman said she was awakened by a noise, looked up and saw someone coming toward her from behind a bookcase.

He stated, "She said the assailant put something over her face, like a sock, and asked her where her money was."

"She said he kept telling her he was not going to hurt her and for her to shut up or he would hurt her."

"The victim said the man then pulled her to the floor and raped her."

Prior to leaving he ripped the phone cord out of the wall. Varnell added the police have no description of the assailant at this time.

Anyone seeing a man in the vicinity of Highway 90, Waveland Avenue and Bloom Place between the hours of 2:30 and 5 a.m. Tuesday are asked to call detective Greg Martin at 467-9669.

This is the second incident of a reported rape within the past month. Bay St. Louis Police arrested a local resident May 13 for the alleged rape of a woman that morning.

Quiet in Waveland

Citizen thanks board for noise level control

BY LIZ HAAS

A citizen appeared before the Waveland Board of Aldermen Tuesday to express gratitude for lowering the noise level at the city playground.

"It's wonderful," she said, "There are no more noises blaring into my home during games."

"We appreciate your coming to thank us," said mayor pro-tem Barbara Rappold, "It's not too often someone comes back to let us know they are satisfied."

The citizen also expressed concern on the missed Monday routes for garbage pick-up.

"It seems as though holidays are falling on Mondays and our garbage doesn't get picked up until the following week," she said.

She added, "Couldn't they double up one day to make up for the loss?"

"We'll talk to the sanitation department and see what can be done," said Rappold.

The board approved Chuck James, a former Waveland policeman, as a taxi driver for "Taxi" Cabs, owned by John Broadwater.

The board also approved the minutes from the previous meeting and the docket.

Blood drive slated Wednesday at Legion

Special to the Echo
With increased highway travel during the summer months, an airbag may save a driver, but a blood donation could save the passenger.

American Red Cross volunteers are encouraging all eligible donors in Hancock County to give blood at the Bay St. Louis Community Blood Drive Wednesday, June 9 from 1-7 p.m. at the American Legion located on Green Meadow Road just off Main Street.

Blood usage tends to increase during the summer months because people are traveling and spending more time outside. Warm weather activities can lead to accidents that will require blood. There are also more elective surgeries scheduled during summer or vacation periods.

The donation process is a simple and safe procedure that takes approximately 45 minutes. There is also a mini-checkup to make sure your blood pressure, temperature and pulse as well as iron level are all in a safe range.

Donors must be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health.

"rich" this board is. Do you believe it? Mr. Casano also said our dues have not been raised. Mine increased from $30 per month to $42.50 when you include the $5 dues increase and the addition of a $7.50 fire fee. Who do you believe?

Poor management is but one explanation for the above. I fear something far more sinister and dangerous is happening. With unsavory sorts trying to build a casino here, there is perhaps something going on far more devious than mismanagement. Although these people don't care about your property values, they certainly have an eye on your amenities. And we are losing control of our amenities.

If you want to save our amenities and preserve Diamondhead as a great place to live...then get out and vote.

Thoughts to share from my friend. It must be borne in mind that the tragedy of life doesn't lie in not reaching your goals. The tragedy lies in having no goal to reach. It isn't a calamity to die with dreams unfulfilled, but it is a calamity not to dream." —Benjamin E. Mays

During World War II it served as flagship for the 8th U.S. Naval District's Coast Guard Auxiliary, patrolling waters Florida to Mexico. Bourne plans to use the yacht in promotion of boating safety, as well as flotilla search and rescue activities. (Echo staff photos by Jacqui Cochran)

Weather causes garden problems

Mississippi's gardeners have experienced the brunt of a colder and wetter than normal spring. Delayed or slowed garden activity could result in weaker, smaller crops in 1993.

Bill Maily, Hinds County agricultural agent, said soil temperatures have been about 10 degrees cooler than normal. Cooler soil temperatures result in slower root development and leaves plants susceptible to fungal diseases.

"We had similar weather problems last year, so gardeners elected to plant later this year rather than risk root problems in cool soils," Maily said. Delayed crops and mild winter could mean additional insect problems on crops that normally are harvested before high insect levels.

Increased levels of insects that over-winter as adults, such as stink bugs, chinch bugs and squash bugs, could result from the relatively mild winter.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all.

The economy on the Coast must really be fantastic. There is a severe shortage of a very important item that is causing trout fishermen to lose a lot of sleep lately. Because of this problem all I heard last week were complaints from the speckle trout. It seems that there is a shortage of trout sunglasses. That's right, the trout can't seem to find enough sunglasses to go around. The results are that the trout are only feeding during the night or in the hours before sunrise.

Maybe the lack of sunglasses has something to do with the trout feeding at night, but it is more likely that since the moon is approaching its full stage, that the trout are feeding while the moon is high in the sky.

While I am on the subject of the full moon I must pass on that I saw a study that says that the time of the full moon is when the big trout come into the shallow waters to lay their eggs. It has something to do with the changes in gravity. So, maybe that might explain why some really "Humungus" trout were caught at night over the past week.

I have one report of a surf fisherman going out about 2 a.m. and virtually wearing out his arm catching three- and four-pound trout. I had to take a vow of secrecy on the location where he caught all of those trout but I can say that it was somewhere between Ladner's Pier and Buccaneer Park.

The trout have been biting fast and furious all along the Coast this past week in a bunch of locations.

Gary LaFontaine, Emmett Luxich and Anthony Lee "murderized" the trout out in front of the Clermont Harbor beach this past week. They stated that the trout were in a feeding frenzy between first light and sunrise. Once the sun came up the trout seemed to go east with the geese — in other words they quit biting. They averaged about six nice, keeper size trout apiece

Trout biting at night and in early morning hours

Craig Sellier with catch from Herron Bay

using sparkle beetles both under a popping cork and without a cork.

It is interesting to note that this group averaged about 30-40 small trout apiece before they found the six trout they needed for breakfast. Man, that's good action no matter how you look at it!

There seems to be a common thread that is related to all of the fishin' reports this past week. That is that the big trout are all being caught during the hours of darkness. Smaller trout are being caught between first light and sunrise and all of the trout are going to bed after sunrise. At least that is the case along the surf.

Half Moon Island is producing some nice fish, depending on the tide. So, as you go to the spots that are away from the shallower water of the beaches the trout don't seem to need their sunglasses as much. Maybe they are using those imitations from some foreign county. Whatever the reason, the islands are producing some nice catches of fish on a moving tide.

Craig Sellier and his "trusty" outboard motor fished the Herron Bay area this past week. I use the word "trusty" with great trepidation ($150 word) as it was touch-and-go as to if the motor was going to turn into an anchor on the trip back. The turtle was with Craig and was already warming up the "arms-tong" motor, but alas, the 15-minute trip turned into a three-hour tour of the area behind Point Clear Island.

Toward the end of the episode I think Craig said some unkind words to the engine and it perked up to a full speed when they were almost back to the landing.

Anyway, contrary to the action in all other areas, the Herron Bay area produced some really nice trout about five o'clock in the evening. The bait that the big trout wanted was live pogie. A few small trout were caught on sparkle beetles, but the really nice ones were caught using live pogie.

The Bay-Waveland Elks fishin' rodeo starts this week and runs through November 8. More about this rodeo next week, but in the mean time, if you need more information, contact Ross Burke at 467-1372.

This week's wonderful wise words. The early bird might get the worm, but the early fisherman get the trout.

What styles do trout sunglasses come in, turtle?

Bay Community Chorus to present patriotic theme concert

The Bay Community Chorus will present its prelude to 1993 Independence Day celebrations with an "Americana Concert" on Friday, June 25, at 8 p.m. at Bay High Auditorium. The focal piece of the program to be conducted by chorus director Joy Mehrtens of Pass Christian, will be Randall Thompson's Testament of Freedom, based on the writings of Thomas Jefferson. Other selections to be presented include traditional patriotic songs, spirituals and folk songs. Tickets are $6 for adults and $4 for children 12 and under. They are available in Bay St. Louis at Bon Temps Roule and The Sea Coast Echo, in Pass Christian at Lynda's Cookery and the Chamber of Commerce and in Diamondhead at Diamondhead Discount Drugs and L.L. Ltd. Fashions. The Bay Community Chorus was organized under the auspices of the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society in January. The chorus made its debut in March with a 19-piece orchestra under the baton of Maestro Dennis Assaf of the Jefferson Performing Arts Society in a performance of Handel's Mesiah at Diamondhead. Originally comprised of musicians from a number of churches in the Hancock and Harrison county areas, the 60-voice chorus is now accepting members from throughout the Coast area. Membership information is available from Mehrtens at 452-3539 or Curtis Stout at 255-5571. Future presentations by the Bay Community Chorus include a concert on Labor Day and a Christmas program to be sponsored by the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Fruit cobblers are delicious, quick-to-fix

That old phrase "easy as pie" is more true than ever, with commercially prepared pie shells and tart shells and biscuit and pastry mixes so easily available.

Even "easier than pie" are the fruit crisps and cobblers of all sorts, and they're delicious! Blackberry cobblers and blueberry cobblers as well. Of course, I usually whistle or sing or hum as I cook, or else I find myself munching along as I go, and having to prepare more of the fruit for cooking!

I'm not at all sure where the name "cobbler" originated, but I've heard that it derives from "cobble up," meaning "to put together hurriedly," for that's what one does!

Here's my:
OLD TIME BLACKBERRY COBBLER (or blueberry)
1 qt. blackberries, approximately
1 egg, beaten

1/3 cup milk
3 tblsp. shortening
1 cup flour
3/4 cup sugar
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt (optional)
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
Beat the egg lightly, add the 3/4 cup sugar with the shortening and milk. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together and add to the first mixture, beating all together. Place the berries, the cup of sugar and cinnamon into a greased baking dish, and top with batter. Bake in 375 degree oven until done, approximately 45 minutes. Serve warm with cream or ice cream (6 servings).

Less sugar-laden is this:
FRUIT COBBLER
1 egg
1 cup sugar
2 tblsp. butter, melted
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose

flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
4 cups sliced peeled peaches (7 or 8 peaches) or 4 cups berries
1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/4 tsp. ground cinnamon

Beat together the egg, 1/2 cup sugar, along with the butter and milk. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt, and beat into the egg mixture.

Combine the berries or peaches with the remaining sugar, nutmeg and cinnamon. Place in a greased baking dish (12x8x2 inches). Top the fruit with the batter, spreading smoothly. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) for 30 minutes or until the crust is crisp and golden brown. Serve warm with cream (6 servings).

P.S. Four cups of pitted cherries or plums also do quite well as a cobbler.

Beach Adventure

Waveland Elementary students enjoy hands-on learning at Bureaucratic Park

Students of Waveland Elementary School recently enjoyed a unique learning experience at Bureaucratic Park. Students from several local, state and federal agencies, as well as Waveland Elementary, were joined for an all-day visit to the park.

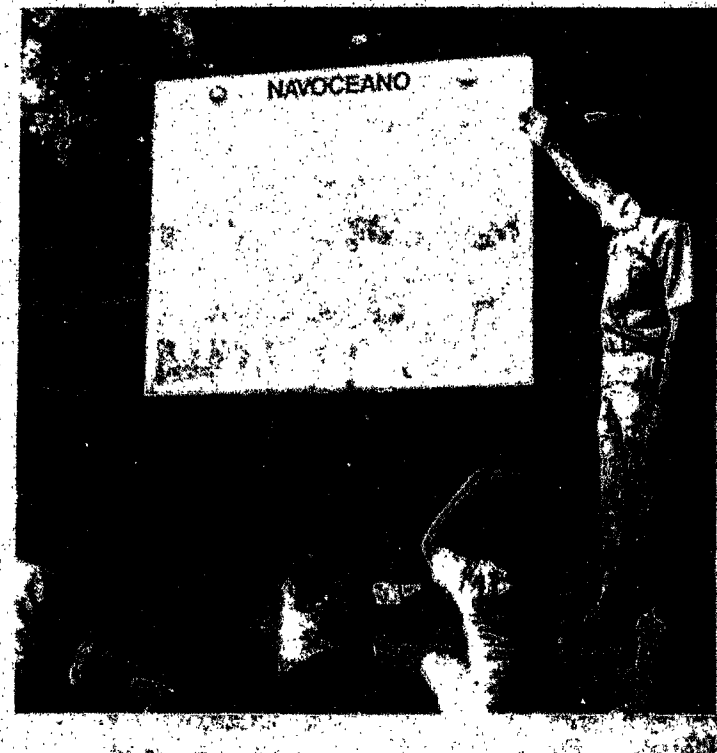

This special event, titled "Beach Adventure," was organized by Waveland Elementary School to focus student attention on the many local resources of the Gulf Coast. Students from each class, kindergarten to grade 5, participated.

The event lasted three days with activities attending each day.

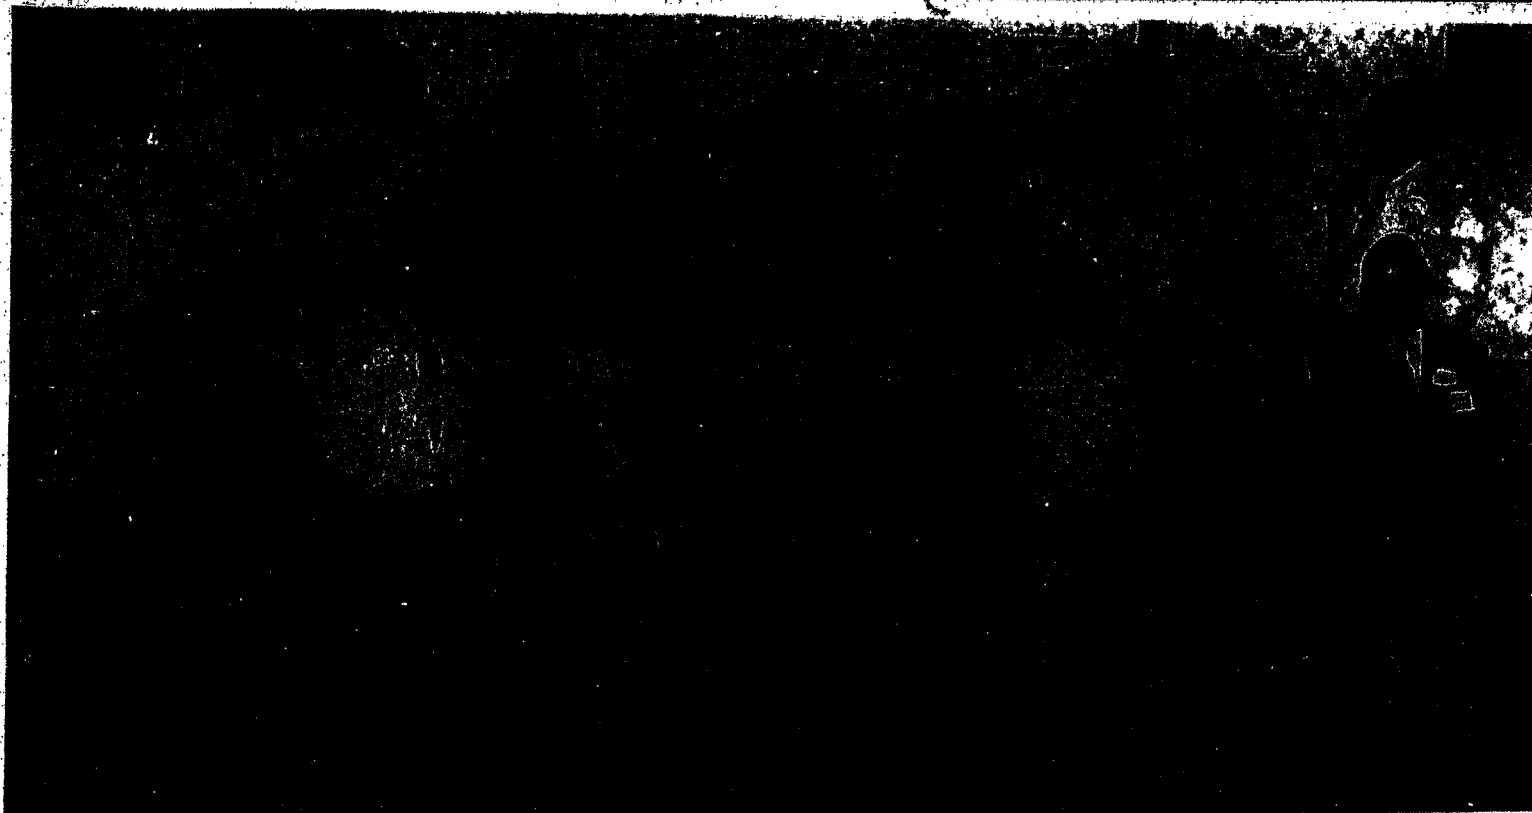

Each agency provided a learning station pertaining to their expertise. The various agencies provided instruction, the culture, history, hands-on experiences and a world of information for students to enjoy.

A special treat, the Waveland Elementary Organization sponsored a beach cleanup activity. Each child was provided a bag and a pair of gloves to help clean up the beach. The children brought home from the Beach Adventure.

In photos clockwise from upper left, Mark Jamieson, Mississippi Forestry Commission, assists kindergarten Ashley Caron in making a leaf collage. Steve Gansky, Gretna, and Mike Smith, Waveland, provide instruction for Lauren Galliano, Harold Dunham, USDA Soil Conservation Service, demonstrate and discuss various soil types and how each is important. LTC Milton M. Axall, U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office, discusses underwater mapping with first graders from Mrs. Butkin's class. Mike Murphy, Mississippi State University Coastal Agriculture Unit, discusses catfish, bass and other great water fish. Susan Memmfield, U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, discusses endangered species. Emphasis was given to the endangered sea turtle. Colette Schindler, EFC president, assists students as they fill paint tins for souvenirs. The paint materials and adult helpers were provided by the parent/teacher organization.

Baldree, Hawkins win Waveland American Legion awards

Third graders Andrew Baldree and Chelsea Hawkins received the American Legion school award from Danny Carter of Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post 77 of Waveland at an awards banquet at Waveland Elementary School.

Chelsea, an honor roll student, is the daughter of Sheryl Hawkins. She enjoys working with computers, and her favorite hobbies are dancing, bike riding and reading.

Andrew is the son of James and Patricia Baldree of Pearlington. He has been on the alpha honor roll since grade one.

The prestigious award is presented to one boy and one girl in the exit grade of their school who best represent outstanding qualities of character and ability.

Storytelling

Blueberry Jubilee the site of Miss. Arts Commission festival

Pearl River Community College will be the site for the first ever Mississippi Blueberry Jubilee Storytelling Festival June 11 and 12.

Scheduled events include workshops that range from "Anybody Can! Storytelling for Beginners" to "Storytelling as Therapy in Building Self Esteem." Popular features will be swapping ground, olios, ghost stories, encounters with mythical swamp creatures and lots of good eating.

The event is funded by The Mississippi Arts Commission. Hosting agencies are the Poplarville PTA, the Blueberry Jubilee Council, Pearl River Community College, and the Poplarville Storytelling Guild. Since 1989, the Poplarville PTA has co-founded Arts-in-Education grants with the Mississippi Arts Commission. A primary focus has been bringing artists into the community to work with the children of the school district and also with the community.

Dr. Rebecca Jernigan, actress and storyteller from Oxford, and Barry Bateman, founder of the Natchez Magnolia Festival, are two who have shared their art with the community leading workshops for adults, developing unique teaching experiences, incorporating storytelling with language arts and other classes to pave the way for even greater interest in storytelling as a living art form.

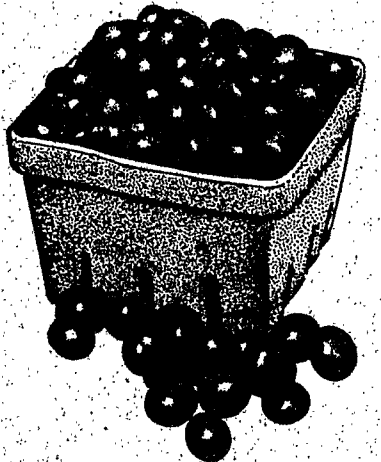

Since 1990, storytelling has been a popular feature of the Blueberry Jubilee. This year the Mississippi Arts Commission awarded the Poplarville storytelling enthusiasts a $10,000 grant for Arts in Festivals, Schools, Places, and Spaces. Project director Hattie Gentry and her support team have put together an impressive agenda and a stellar cast of storytellers.

Joining Barry Bateman will be a team of veteran storytellers from SAPPs, the Southern Association for the Preservation and Perpetuation of Storytelling. They are Bev Twillman from Knoxville, Tenn., Sara W. McDaris of Huntsville, Ala., Sherry Des Enfants of Peachtree, Ga., and nationally known teller from Tucker's Knob, Tenn., and Doc McConnel, one of the founding fathers of NAPPs, National Association for the Preservation and Perpetuation of Storytelling.

They will be joined by Mississippi tellers Ben Woods of Jackson, Dr. Rebecca Jernigan and Douglas Haynes of Oxford, Josie Roberts of Purvis, Mary Etta Moody of Poplarville, Delora Burge of Houston, Texas, and Irma Rockwell of Bristol, Va.

The Mississippi Blueberry Jubilee Storytelling Festival promises to be a fun-packed event. The festival has something for everyone, workshops on a wide range of aspects of storytelling, and the chance to spin your own yarn. For information contact Hattie Gentry at 795-6153 or 795-8378.

Poplarville Blueberry fest set June 12

The 10th annual Blueberry Jubilee will be June 12 in Poplarville. Arts and crafts, entertainment, food, petting zoo, storytelling, a 5-K run and a 1-mile fun run are offered, as well as wagon rides to the USDA Small Fruit Research Station.
